

I do not want cell phone usage on airline flights. If it was allowed before takeoff and after landing, that's fine. But I picture being next to someone or someones who chat for the flight duration (LOUD perhaps) - I can't go sit somewhere else. There's alot of concern about second-hand smoke. Do we have to start litigation concerning second-hand noise?